CONGRESSMAN AUSTIN

Has Proven Himself a Representative of the people, regardless of politics.

The old talk of opposition to Congressman Austin has been revived. Dick, however, continues to saw wood and does not seem to worry over the thought of some one else taking his seat in the congress of the United States. John Houk mentioned, both as a progressive and democratic candidate, but it would be a good bet to wager that if the two men mentioned were to enter the race Congressman Austin would poll more democratic votes in the second district than would his opponent. He has proven himself a representative of the people, regardless of politics, and this will be a hard blow to any one who goes up against him. (Rockwood Times)

FEWER "STRIKES" ON RECORD

Authorities Point With Pardonable Pride to Good Work Done Since Beginning of War.

According to statistics just completed by the department of labor, there had been reported to the government since April 6, 1917, when a state of war with Germany was declared, no less than 500 strikes and other "industrial disturbances."

These statistics cover a period of almost exactly six months and show that 1,029,671 working men were affected. In the same period in 1916 only 144 strikes occurred.

The government's record shows that of the 500 strikes to which official attention was called, 100 are still in force, 50 were given up as impossible of adjustment and 48 are in a quasi-adjusted condition. The remainder were settled in one way or another.

Realizing that labor disturbances, especially such as would affect work upon war contracts, would constitute a material weakness in the effort put forth by the United States, the war industries board has under consideration a form of contract which will give the government power to act as arbitrator without waiting for an invitation from either side and which binds the contractor to abide by the decision made in each case. For its part, the government will agree to revise the contract prices to meet any revision upward in labor costs resulting from such arbitration awards.

WOMEN TURN FROM HOUSEHOLD LABORS

Woman engine wipers at Spokane and at other division points on the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads in the state of Washington like their work and prefer it to housework. C. H. Younger, state labor commissioner, declared recently after an inspection trip to the railroad shops of the state. The women in the employ of the Northern Pacific at Spokane work ten hours a day, at receive time and a half for the last hour, he said. In Pasco and Ellensburg women engaged at the same work for the Northern Pacific work eight hours a day, as do women coach cleaners in the employ of the Pullman company.

Demand Pay for Women.

Widespread introduction of women into menial work has aroused the American Federation of Labor. Plans are being developed to combat replacing men with women at less than union wages.

The unionizing of new women workers will be taken up in connection with the whole labor shortage at the American Federation of Labor convention in Buffalo. The organization denies shortage of labor. "There are some shortages of labor in specialized branches," called into later activity in consequence of the war, but otherwise there is no real shortage," said J. W. Sullivan, acting president of the American Federation of Labor.

If it is necessary to employ women in some trade, the association insist they be allowed the right to organize the workers so that there will be no reduction in the wages or living standards of men.

Governor Parsons and Gov. Rye has pardoned Smalley, convicted in Monroe 1903 of murder in the first degree. Arris was sentenced to an accomplice, who turned evidence, was sentenced to imprisonment.

Gov. Frazier commuted the sentence of Smalley to life imprisonment. Gov. Cox later pardoned Smalley, who has since died.

The two men were charged with the murder of a Jew merchant peddler. At the trial Judge Burt now a resident of Oklahoma, said that there was some ground to believe that the guilt of Smalley, with A. J. Fletcher of Cleveland, was then deduced a commutation of sentence 10 or 20 years.
